France Readies Force for Egypt

Could Advance With British If Parley Fails

Cyprus Would Be Base; Hopes for Settling Suez Situation Low

By WILLIAM SEXTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (AP) — France was reported assembling a 30-ship task force in the Mediterranean today for joint Anglo-French military moves against Egypt should the Suez crisis deteriorate further. Hopes for a peaceful settlement were low.

France and Britain announced jointly that French troops would be sent to Cyprus, easy striking distance of the canal zone, and unofficial reports said French paratroops are already en route to the British base from Algeria.

Some sources spoke of a "grave" deterioration of relations between Britain and Egypt, but the foreign office refused even to comment on the situation. British newspapers accused Egypt of imposing a "reign of terror" on Britons living there.

The feeling of crisis was heightened by the arrest of three Britons and the expulsion of two British diplomats on spy charges. Egyptian sources said they were engaged in a plot to overthrow the government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

All dispatches from Egypt indicated that Nasser would not budge from his stand that the Suez Canal was and must remain Egyptian although Egyptian government sources said he was anxious to negotiate a compromise settlement.

Egyptian sources in Cairo denounced the Anglo-French decision to move troops to Cyprus as "crude pressure" and said it would have no effect on the firm Egyptian stand.

It was against this background that the five-nation Suez Committee headed by Australian Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies prepared to fly to Cairo Sunday for talks with Nasser on the Dulles plan to place the canal under international control.

COLD BAY, Alaska (AP)—A Canadian Pacific DC6B airliner crashed and burned 3 1/2 miles south of the landing field here early today and 15 of the 22 persons aboard the plane were killed.

Witnesses said the plane crashed about 20 feet above sea level and about 1,000 feet from the shore of the north Pacific Ocean as it was coming in to land. The plane caught fire and burned after it crashed.

The airliner, carrying 14 passengers and 8 crew members, left Vancouver, B. C., at 6:30 p. m. CST Wednesday en route to Tokyo. It was scheduled to refuel here.

Cold Bay is a little wilderness community at the lower end of the Alaska peninsula near Unimak Island, approximately 390 miles west of Kodiak Island.

A spokesman for Reeves Aleutian Airlines, who witnessed the crash, said four of the seven survivors were in critical condition. The other three were in fair condition.

The survivors included a child and the captain, co-pilot, navigator and a stewardess.

Hintz Changes State Plea To Guilty, Gets 1-3 Years, Fined; Already Held by U. S.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Edward A. Hintz pleaded guilty today to conspiracy charges in the Hodge case and was sentenced to one to three years in prison and a $3,000 fine.

Hintz was already under a three year federal sentence on a plea of guilty to federal charges growing out of the million-dollar scandal in the office of former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

It will be up to Chicago Federal District Judge John P. Barnes to decide Friday where Hintz will serve his sentences. Hintz is scheduled to start serving his federal term Friday.

Hintz entered his guilty plea to two indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the state before Circuit Judge L. E. Wilhite.

Wilhite accepted the recommendation of State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon in passing sentence. Coutrakon recommended a one to three year term on each indictment with the sentences to run concurrently, and a $2,000 fine on one indictment and a $1,000 fine on the second indictment.

Hintz resigned as president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, after the Hodge scandal broke. He was charged with segregating state funds at the bank for Hodge's use. Thanks Judge Hintz stood before the bench to hear his sentence. After sentence was imposed he murmured "Thank you, sir," to Wilhite.

Hintz was turned over to technical custody of the Sangamon County sheriff. He will be taken before Barnes in Chicago Friday. Coutrakon, in making his recommendations, pointed out that Hintz was 67 years old and he was "the least culpable" principal in the case so far as state charges were concerned.

Hintz's attorneys passed their opportunity to make a plea for leniency and said "We have nothing to say, your honor."

Hintz had pleaded innocent to the charges Monday. He withdrew the plea and was sentenced after a brief conference in Wilhite's chambers among the judge, Hintz's attorneys and Coutrakon.

No Charters to Individuals Say Labor Leaders

Act to Prevent Racketeers from Operating Unions

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — The AFL-CIO high command gave its 140 affiliated unions authority today to prevent racketeers from operating in organized labor.

An ultimatum issued by the merged union's 28-member Executive Council in the course of a four-day meeting at this mountain resort outlined a pattern for the affiliates to follow.

It instructed the affiliates to issue local charters only where they have application for membership from groups of bona fide employees and to deny charters to individuals.

The action was at least related to past AFL-CIO connections of Johnny Dioguardia, alias Johnny Dio, who has been charged with masterminding the acid-binding of labor columnist Victor Riesel last April.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, terming the issuing of charters to individuals "one of the sore spots in organized labor," noted that Dio once held three local union charters from the old AFL Auto Workers Union.

These charters were withdrawn in 1953 on orders of the AFL Executive Council.

Stevenson Owes Plenty to Reuther, Who Pushed Labor Endorsement of Adlai

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Auto Workers' Walter P. Reuther has just won another round in the great game of labor politics. If you were to pick today, the leader of organized labor to whom Adlai E. Stevenson owes the largest debt of gratitude, it would have to be this same Reuther.

Sen. Estes Kefauver is indebted to Reuther, too, but not so much. The immediate story probably begins back there in June when Reuther held a press conference here. For those who are not yet wholly aware of Reuther, he is head man of the United Auto Workers and No. 2 man in the combined AFL-CIO of which George Meany is president.

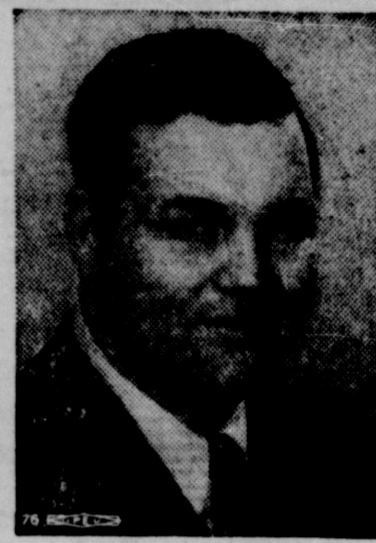

Reuther told the newsmen last June that he supported Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination. He didn't say it very loud or the reporters didn't hear him too distinctly, because the word failed to get around as it should.

Stengel, who is 42 years of age, married and has three children, is a cousin of Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees. Their grandfathers were brothers, who as young men, went to Rock Island county together in the 1850's and settled there.

District and county Democratic candidates will attend the party rally.

Co-op Ready to Buy Rosiclare Power System

SEIEC Exercises Option; Must Be Approved by REA

Members of the Board of Directors of the Southeastern Illinois Electric Co-op have executed an option of agreement to purchase the electric distributive system in Rosiclare, Tom Clevenger, SEIEC manager, stated today.

The distributive system in Rosiclare is owned by the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Co., and the option allows the SEIEC to make the purchase for $40,000.

Before the sale is completed, the terms must be approved by REA officials in Washington, D. C., but no delay in the approval is expected and the SEIEC plans to take over the Rosiclare system in about 60 days, Mr. Clevenger stated.

About two weeks ago SEIEC officials made the $40,000 offer to the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Co., and the offer was accepted. Tuesday at a SEIEC board meeting the option was executed and forwarded to Washington.

There are approximately 300 electric users supplied by the Rosiclare plant.

The purchase includes the entire distributive system of poles, wires

Half Dozen are Mentioned for Place on Ticket

Mitchell, Barrett, Sachs, Kerner are Among Prospects

CHICAGO (AP) — A number of prospective candidates loomed on the political horizon today as possible replacements for Herbert C. Paschen, who resigned under pressure as Illinois' Democratic candidate for governor.

Paschen, also Cook County (Chicago) treasurer, stepped down from the top spot on the state ticket following charges about a political "welfare fund" in his office.

His resignation also was a submission to the powerful Democratic Chicago machine and downstate party leaders who felt the investigation of his office fund by federal and local authorities made him a liability on the ticket.

Central Committee Meeting
Meanwhile, state party Chairman James A. Ronan said the 25-man central committee will meet in Springfield Tuesday, the state capital, to pick a successor to Paschen.

Several names have been mentioned as possible candidates to face Republican Gov. William G. Stratton in the November election. Chief factor in the selection of a new candidate probably will be an ability to aid presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson carry his home state against President Eisenhower.

Considered likely successors to Paschen are Stephen A. Mitchell, a Stevenson protege and former chairman of the Democratic National Committee who had earlier sought the party nomination; Morris B. Sachs, Chicago merchant and city treasurer, who gave Paschen a stiff primary battle for the nomination; Cook County Judge Otto Kerner, who has a strong following downstate; Joseph Lohman, Cook County sheriff; Edward J. Barrett, Cook County clerk and also a good downstate vote-getter, and Illinois Supreme Court Justice Walter V. Schafer.

Sachs Confident
Sachs told newsmen, "I'm the only one who can beat Stratton. I'm a proven man who can get the votes out."

Paschen handed newsmen his withdrawal statement Wednesday 15 minutes before he was scheduled to answer questions by investigators of the U. S. Senate Banking and Currency Committee about the fund. The resignation came about 24 hours after he had appeared before a county grand jury probing the fund.

In his statement, the white-haired treasurer asked the Democratic State Central Committee to accept his resignation as a candidate for governor "and to proceed with the selection of a successor."

Paschen admitted no wrongdoing concerning accusations about the $29,000 welfare fund in the treasurer's office, which was uncovered by the Chicago Sun-Times. It has been charged that banks contributed to the fund to secure deposits of county funds, and that the fund was used for political purposes.

Paschen, a suburban lawyer and banker who had been considered a comer in Democratic circles, was under considerable pressure from party bigwigs to withdraw from the race after the fund was revealed. Finally, after several days, Paschen decided to step out of the race.

Langlie's Calm Appraisal

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
WHEN Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington spoke from the Republican rostrum in San Francisco, he could talk about the record of a party in power. This has both advantages and disadvantages.

All politicians bidding for high office are expected to say what they will do if elected. But it is no little help to be able to point to deeds already done — as an earnest of good faith.

On the other hand, no administration ever gets through a period of incumbency without making mistakes, especially in these complex times. Its errors are the opposition's ammunition, and sometimes require painful explanation.
But if Langlie was troubled by this customary handicap, he did not show it in his keynote address. True to the keynote's tradition, he ignored his party's shortcomings and dwelt at length upon what he considered the positive achievements of President Eisenhower's regime.

The historian's appraisal naturally will differ from such a representation. But few citizens who understand the inspirational purpose of the keynote speech would express surprise that Langlie dealt in some of the party exag-gerations which are the hallmark of these talks.

Probably not many Americans are likely to decide their November voting stance on the basis of comparison between Democratic and Republican keynoters. If any should, the GOP on balance might gain a little additional favor.

For Langlie's calm, deliberate speech-making lent an air of plausibility to his assertions. He spoke somewhat in the manner of the trusted attorney assuring the family that the estate is in fine shape and everybody will be taken care of.

It did not hurt his case that this particular estate—the United States—is currently being managed by Mr. Eisenhower, a man in whom millions of Americans place great faith.

Some might imagine that Lang-lie intentionally sought to contrast his speech with the fire-breathing effort of his Democratic counterpart, Gov. Frank Clement Tennessee. He may have been mindful of that aspect. But the evidence suggests basically that Langlie spoke according to his nature, as did Clement the week before.

In the end, most Americans will not trouble to sift through the comments of the Messrs. Langlie and Clement searching for the grains of truth. They will be attuning their ears instead to the declarations of President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, and watching closely the barometers of the country's condition as the election approaches.

Now Make Up Your Mind

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Nashville Publisher Persuaded Senator Gore To Withdraw: Senator Monroney Tried To Keep Gore In The Race;
Stevenson's Son Congratulated
Kennedy On Premature Victory.

WASHINGTON. — As the Democratic convention reached the climax of its exciting vote for vice president, Albert Gore, junior senator from Tennessee, watched the proceedings from the taproom behind the speaker's platform. He had his elbow on the bar, but he was not drinking.

Kefauver has always supported Gore, but southern leaders, masterminded by Texas' Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn, were out to block Kefauver by using Gore.

Earlier, Tennessee delegates had caucused. John Heiskell of the old Crump machine, which Kefauver once licked, moved to support Gore to the bitter end.
Former Lieutenant Governor Pete
Haynes argued that the delegation was instructed to support any Tennesseean who had a chance, therefore should switch to Kefauver if Gore's chances diminished. His motion carried.

But as Kefauver managers pleaded with Gore, standing at the bar in the taproom, he refused to withdraw.

CLEMENT WAVERS

Martha Ragland, former committeewoman from Tennessee, came to urge his withdrawal. Gore declined. Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, close friend of Sam Rayburn, came to urge Gore to stick. It was Monroney who helped persuade him into the race in the first place.

Heiskell and a group of Crump men came to demand that he stick to the bitter end; anything to stop Kefauver.

On the convention floor, Gore was rapidly losing votes. Lyndon Johnson phoned Governor Clement that Texas was switching from Gore to Kennedy. Kefauver's managers went to Clement, urged him to throw to Kefauver.

He was willing, he said, if Gore agreed. But he couldn't act without Gore's OK.

Over in the Oklahoma delegation, Senator Monroney urged Governor Gary to switch from Senator Humphrey to Kennedy.
Gary refused. Other Oklahoma delegates recalled what the Bible Belt had done to Al Smith in 1928.
They recalled that Kennedy had voted with Benson on the farm bill.

Governor Clement sat under the Tennessee banner looking straight ahead. His jaws moved up and down. He was chewing gum, not tobacco.

In the private room where rivals Kefauver and Humphrey sat together, Kefauver pointed out that the switches were going to Kennedy, not to Humphrey, that his race was hopeless.

"I'll talk to Orville," Humphrey said, referring to Minnesota's Governor Orville Freeman. They whispered briefly, then Humphrey turned to two aides.

"Go out on the floor," he said,
"and switch our delegates to Kefauver."

STEVENSON CONGRATULATES

Over in the Stock Yards Inn, Adlai Stevenson's son, John Fell, slipped into Kennedy's room to congratulate him. Kennedy had put on his pants, but not his shoes. He lay on the bed.

"Wait a bit. I'm not in yet, but thanks anyway," he told young Stevenson.

A phone call came from Stevenson's chief lieutenant, Bill Blair. "Just act naturally," he said, "we have no special instructions for you."

"I'm not in yet," Kennedy repeated.

As Kennedy's votes rolled up,
a cordon of Chicago police arrived. They had come, they said,
to escort him to the platform.

Over in the convention taproom, Silliman Evans Jr., publisher of the powerful Nashville Tennessean, finally cornered young Senator Gore, told him the facts of loyalty and of life. If you don't support your fellow Tennessean, he warned bluntly, you can never expect to be re-elected in 1958. Col. Roberts phoned that Oklahoma was switching to Kefauver.

This tipped the scales. Gore threw in the sponge. But, though he announced his withdrawal from the race, Tennessee could not get recognition.

Gov. Clement waved the Tennessee standard, but Sam Rayburn ignored it. He knew Kentucky was against Kefauver and recognized it. Kentucky didn't disappoint him. It switched its 30 votes to Kennedy.

Finally, Gov. Clement got recognition. Rayburn didn't know he was going to switch. Tennessee's 32 votes, said Clement, went to Estes Kefauver. Then Oklahoma switched. Maybelle Kennedy of Pawhuska, Okla., almost kissed
Gov. Gary. Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri switched 37 votes to Kefauver. It was all over.

KENNEDY'S WET EYES

"You're in!" announced Jiggs
Donohue to Kefauver, whose campaign he had piloted.

"Let's wait awhile, there may be some corrections," Kefauver cautioned. Then he thanked Humphrey for his help. The two had been sitting together all during the exciting second ballot.

"I have lost," said Jack Kennedy at the Stock Yards Inn. His police cordon faded away.

He made his way to the platform without the police.
"I hope you'll make it unanimous," he said, speaking into the microphone. Then he stepped away.

"Go back and make a motion," Sam Rayburn whispered. "Make a motion."

Kennedy returned and made the motion, unanimously nominating Kefauver. Pulling back out of the limelight, his emotions finally got the better of him. The young senator slipped away.

Sam Rayburn asked for a unanimous vote. Only Virginia voted
"no."

Jack Kennedy, now only 39 years old, has many years ahead of him. He can afford to wait. The votes he got from the south served to break down the bugaboo of religious prejudice. Some Democrats felt that Catholic delegates
blue-voted for Kennedy.

But while Irish members of the California delegation did present a vigorous united front, another Catholic, Mike Di Salle of Italian descent, nominated Kefauver and swung the entire Ohio delegation to him. Maybe he remembered that Kennedy knifed Italian-American Foster Furcolo for the Senate.

After it was all over that night,
Stevenson threw a big party. All the Democratic bigwigs were there. Suddenly someone looked around and noticed that the new vice-presidential nominee had not been invited. An emissary was sent to Kefauver's room in the Blackstone. Estes and Nancy were sitting with their shoes off.
They were too tired to come.

CHICAGO — When police objected to Joseph Germano stopping automobiles of non-strikers

don't you lock me up?" Police did. He was charged with dis-

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.

Written for NEA Service

The next few weeks will see the American nation involved in a series of political campaigns. Candidates will tell their stories from public platform, over the radio,
on television, in the newspapers and in other ways. We shall all be given the opportunity to make up our minds about the leaders who will hold offices in many sectors of our nation.

Positions are to be filled in towns, in states, in the federal government and in other subdivisions of the nation. The contenders for office have come from every walk of life. They represent scores of viewpoints, interests and objectives. They are free to express their ideas, their criticisms, their suggestions and their opinions.

There will be campaigns based on logic and statistics. There will be emotional appeals. Some will dramatize their presentations.
Others will argue, debate and plead.

After all is said and done we shall go to the polls and cast our votes for the leaders of our choice. When the elections are over we shall accept the selection of the majority, and we shall be proud of our officeholders and of the nation they represent.

During the campaigns we ought to pray to God for wisdom,
for emotional balance, for freedom from bitterness, for intellectual honesty and for spiritual direction. If we pray enough, we shall choose wisely. God does not make our choices, but He helps us think.

Think You're Old? Take This Test

MINNEAPOLIS — A bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical Assn., said that old age does not begin with a certain birthday.
Rather, you may be old at 40 and young at 80 but you are genuinely old at any age if:
You feel old; you feel you have learned all there is to learn; you find yourself saying "I'm too old to do that"; you feel tomorrow holds no promise; you find no amusement in the activities of youth and if their banter irks you;

you'd rather talk than listen; you long for the "good old days," feeling they were the best; you won't help your neighbors, friends and community; you have no plans for tomorrow; you'd rather win an argument than be right.

The Secretary said he believes that the people of Southern Illinois will send Mr. Scott to Washington as their Representative in Congress and member of the Eisenhower team.

Study Annual Sessions State Legislature

Brought About by Hodge Scandal; Figure
Once a Year May Help

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Possible annual sessions of the state legislature and requirements that state officers make reports of campaign contributions were under study today in the wake of the Orville E. Hodge scandal.

The proposals were discussed here Wednesday by the State Budgetary Commission, which met to hear progress reports from its staff investigators and State Auditor Lloyd Morey.

The commission chairman, Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph) said after two months of investigation it was time to draft a report on "how Hodge did it and why he did it, with recommendations to prevent such a thing happening again."

Discussing a possible campaign contribution law, Peters said it may be advisable for certain state officials, including the governor and the state auditor, to be required to file reports of campaign contributions which they make.

He said some states have such a law, but the reports are limited to contributions above a certain amount, and to high state officials. Campaign contributions by ex-Auditor Hodge figured prominently in his million dollar raid on the state treasury.

Possible annual sessions of the legislature, instead of bi-annual sessions, have long been discussed as a means of improving the level of government in Illinois.

Galatia Graduate Accepts Post

James L. Williams, son of Olen Williams of Galatia Route 3, has been employed as assistant in poultry research at Honegger Breeder Hatchery at Forrest, Ill. Williams was graduated last June from Southern Illinois University, where he majored in agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stone Return From Vacation in Southwest

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stone of Galatia and Mrs. Jettie Winters and Miss Amma Duty of Marion returned recently from a three-weeks' vacation trip to the Southwest.

They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Pulley of Gallup, N. M.

Making the Pulley's home headquarters, trips were made locally to Indian villages and mountain fishing and hunting areas that offer to the sportsman excellent bear and deer hunting and rainbow trout and bass fishing.

Charles Winters and son, Wendell, spent three days with the group at Gallup where all attended two of the highlights of the trip, an all-Indian western rodeo and the inter-tribal ceremonial that is nationally and internationally known. The Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, Window Rock, Fort Wingate and Fort Defiance, Arizona, were all visited.

The next outstanding highlight of the trip was the group going to Monument Valley, driving directly through the Navajo reservation. The valley takes one into the heart of the Navajo land.

After the wonderful journey of 100 miles through the "Valley that Nobody Knows," they were in Utah; from there to Monticello, where the great disaster occurred, killing over 20 people in an explosion from high pressure gas installed in a cafe. They escaped being in that disaster by fate, as their motel was practically next door.

The next morning the party went into Moab, Utah, and visited the "Arches National Monument." From there to Los Pinos, one of the outstanding rainbow trout fishing centers in Colorado. They witnessed unique country and experienced hospitality from Anglo, Spanish and Indian borders.

Bidding the Pulleys goodbye, they left Gallup and headed out for Sacarro, N. M., where they stopped to see Judge Charles Fowler, formerly of Marion, and on to Las Cruces, La Mesa and Berino, N. M., where they spent a few days with the Stone's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hutchinson, Lena Bowman and Della Spencer, formerly of Saline county. From their homes they went to El Paso, Juarez and the White Sands National Monument near the Atomic Proving Grounds and en route home visited Carlsbad Caverns.

Former Residents Come By Water All of Way From Chicago Area

Traveling by cabin cruiser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berry and daughters, Susan and Linda, and Mrs. Berry's mother, Mrs. Earl Owens, Riverside, Ill., left Joliet last week, pushing out into the Illinois river and traveling all the way by water to Cave-in-Rock. There they docked at the R. C. Barter cabin landing.

They made the trip just like the early explorers did, except their boat, the "Sue-Lin," named for the Berry sisters, is as modern and completely equipped as any house trailer.

They expect to visit for a few days with relatives and friends here in Harrisburg, after which the Berrys will return to the Chicago area.

Mrs. Berry is the former Imogene Owen of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Earl Owen, who is employed in the blouse department of Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago, will be here a while longer.

As the bride reached the altar on the arm of her father a congregational prayer was said by Rev. Roy Reynolds. The bride chose for her wedding a ballerina length gown designed with a tight fitted sleeveless bodice of nylon eyelet with a scoop neckline and a full tiered skirt of nylon tulle drop net over white satin. She wore eyelet mits and a shoulder length veil of net illusion secured to a band of orange blossoms and seed pearl. She carried an orchid on a white Bible with white streamers.

Meadville's Fairyland Village Is Happy Clinic Where Children Battle Sclerosis

STEAMBOAT PUFFS SOAP BUBBLES when young crew manages to pump the pedals. It's part of a new kind of therapy at Fairyland Village for palsied and sclerotic children.

By NEA Service

MEADVILLE, Pa. — (NEA) — This little girl, sitting in a child-sized steamboat on the bright floor, was trying. You could see it in the way she sucked hard on her lower lip, squinted her eyes, took a deep breath and tried again.

Finally a slow stream of soap bubbles drifted out of the model smoke stack. Her gigantic effort of pumping the foot pedals had worked and another step had been taken in a new kind of therapy at Fairyland Village.

There are in America hundreds of thousands of children with cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis, caught between the sorrow and shame of their families and wracked by the tortures of illness for which there is no certain cure. And there is only one Fairyland Village trying a new approach to old ills.

In this playland clinic there is no antiseptic aspect, no prophylactic pall. Instead, there is gay color and a menagerie of nursery toys, models of ships and planes, tables for drawing and coloring, automobiles and hobby horses.

And every one is part of the new therapy that is showing results—both physically and psychologically—in the hurt children who daily come to play at Fairyland.

The clinic itself is the concretion of an idea by two western Pennsylvanians, Dr. Edward Connor and Owen K. Murphy.

Four years ago the scythe of multiple sclerosis caught Dr. Connor. He was almost blind, almost paralyzed at 42 and in the midst of a busy career. With a grip born of desperation, he pulled himself back to his feet and walked away from the worst of sclerosis.

The horror at his own doorstep, however, brought Dr. Connor to think more and more of the palsied and sclerotic children whom he could not treat because of inadequate facilities.

And then he met Owen Murphy, whose Niagara Manufacturing Co. turns out cyclotherapy machines—electrical devices that stimulate atrophied body tissues.

From the manufacturer, Dr. Connor learned that most children are afraid of steel and tile clinics, afraid of therapy, afraid to face their shame. Murphy explained that any physical good in cyclotherapy could easily be wiped out by psychological disturbance.

Together the two men saw the need of a new type of clinic—a place where children would feel happy about treatment. The result: Fairyland Village where treatment is free, where no donations are accepted, where laughter springs from once-terrified babies.

It is two years now since the clinic was opened. Patients number 75 today, from 18 months to 13 years old. And what looks like fun and games is the most serious kind of therapy.

A baby, asleep in a playpen, receives cyclomassage through built-in equipment under the mat. Children at their coloring books are taking cyclomassage through specially built chairs. The equipment works at every turn, in every toy, in every game.

And then, with spastic muscles relaxed, other muscles can be trained to be useful, to carry the load and make useful people of once-tortured children.

Most important, perhaps, is the psychological benefit of this clinic. Children, once filled with self-loathing because of their illness, are learning to stand up to life. And parents who once walked stealthily through the nursery are learning to share living with their children.

Advice to Canoeists In Red Cross Book

WASHINGTON — The American Red Cross has published a handbook for canoeists, expert or otherwise.

The 445-page book, "Canoeing," deals with handling of the sensitive craft as well as safe operation. Self-rescue techniques and methods of carrying, launching and boarding are described. The book also devotes space to canoe-handling in swift and turbulent waters.

It was produced primarily for use by the Red Cross but is an invaluable guide to all canoeists, according to A. W. Cantwell, national director of Red Cross safety services.

Standing before the machine with his identification papers on the stand below, would-be patron and his papers are photographed on a single film when the bartender pushes the switch. HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Notable Quotables: Betty Hutton, about TV's spectaculars: "Their whole theory is wrong and the shows are too long. When they go into 90 minutes they are going into motion picture technique. I don't mean variety shows—I'm talking about musical comedies written for TV."

MARLON BRANDO: "There is no person alive who doesn't care what people think of him. The person that seemingly doesn't care is the very one that cares most of all." (Like Marlon Brandot?)

DIANA DORS, the British Marilyn Monroe, about falling an auto driving test:

"I failed because I didn't use the rear-view mirror. Fancy me, a film star forgetting to look in the mirror."

ROBERT MITCHUM, confronted by a harassed assistant director and three kids seeking autographs, as he was about to order breakfast before leaving for the set of "Fire Down Below":

"Waiter, bring me some orange juice, a cup of coffee and a big smile. I've got a feeling this is going to be a day to forget."

INGRID BERGMAN, admitting she and Roberto Rossellini have decided to pursue independent careers:

"It seems best for us to proceed like that at present. It gives us the freedom we both need. But whenever something is right for both of us, naturally we will reunite our efforts."

CONSTANCE BENNETT: "It isn't too late to learn that when you turn your back on friends, you soon find yourself facing a small audience."

ANTHONY QUINN, about his weird face make-up for the role of Quasimodo in "The Hunchback of Paris":

"I can't see, I can't talk and I can't move. But I'm supposed to give a performance. I had to have something to act with, so they left me an eye."

Danny Thomas' wife) for movie roles like her latest one with Betty Hutton and Dana Andrews in "Spring Reunion": "Boy, there's nothing as refreshing as stepping out of those cool mother roles into some hot romance."

CLEO MOORE, on why she doesn't think she should play dumb blonde roles: "A blonde has to be a lot smarter than a brunette because she has to go through life proving how dumb she isn't."

SHELLEY WINTERS: "I've discovered the value of setting goals for yourself. Right now my big goal is planning financially so my daughter will be financially independent when she's 18. Why? So if she doesn't happen to agree with her mother or anyone else she can just say, 'Sorry,' and do what her heart tells her to."

DAN DURYEA, about television, pro and con: "A friend of mine travels the middle road. He says that he never watches TV. In that way he preserves the illusion that it's the wonderful medium everyone tells him it is."

CLAUDETTE COLBERT, back from New York after taking the play plunge in "Janus":

"Hollywood's claim that TV is hurting the film industry certainly can't be applied to the New York stage, which is booming. If people want to see something, they'll leave their TV sets to see it, whether it's a play or a picture. But it has to be good."

JIM BACKUS, after seeing the Hollywood press salute at a flag-lowering ceremony just before a movie premiere: "After watching the press salute, I think I'll sell all my War Bonds."

Hollywood barber HARRY GELBART, when told by a Hollywoodsman that haircuts in London only cost 70 cents:

"Yeah, but look at the cost of transportation to England."

Ad man DON BELDING'S warning to TV announcers: "You shout so loud I can't hear you."

Says a Few Illinoisans Put Estes In

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Jimmy Drew, Adlai Stevenson's former barber and a delegate to the recent Democratic National Convention, says a handful of downstate Illinoisans should get credit for putting over Sen. Estes Kefauver as the party's vice presidential nominee.

Drew said Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and other Cook County leaders of the Illinois delegation were pushing for a unanimous vote from Illinois for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the vice presidential spot.

"Illinois comes early on the roll call," Drew said, "and if the other delegations had seen a unanimous vote from us for Kennedy, they would have interpreted it as a signal from Stevenson that he wanted Kennedy."

"It would have been all over and Kennedy would have won if Illinois went unanimously for him," Drew said. But he said "some of us downstaters, myself and V. Y. Dallman, of Springfield, and Ivan Elliott, of Carmi, and some others, held firm for Kefauver."

ver," thus putting the brakes on the Kennedy bandwagon.

William W. (Smokey) Downey, administrative assistant to Gov. William G. Stratton, arrived back here Tuesday from the Republican National Convention at San Francisco.

Downey told a newsman the governor's decision to take a Hawaiian vacation after the GOP convention could be interpreted as a sign that "we're not worried" over the outcome of the November election.

State Rep. Maud N. Peffer (R-Aurora), who died last weekend at Aurora, was the seventh member of the 1955 Legislature who has died.

Others were Reps. Hazel A. McCaskrin (R-Rock Island), who died in December, 1954, before the last session started, Joseph G. Kohout (D-Chicago), Dr. M. E. Lollar (R-Tuscola), and David M. Peters (D-Decatur), and Sens. Frank P. Johnson (R-Kewanee), who also died before the session started, and Lloyd E. Davis (R-Morrisville).

Invention vs. Discovery

Invention is putting materials together so as to make something which did not exist before. Discovery usually means finding or uncovering something which exists, but has never been observed before.

New Shows Are Coming Up on TV This Fall

Wally Cox, Buddy Hackett, Jeannie Carson in Comedies

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—Your fall TV menu is just about set, with more than two dozen new items scheduled to be offered up to your palate. There are new situation comedies on tap starting such talent as Wally Cox, Jeannie Carson, Buddy Hackett and Gale Storm. There are a new round of shoot-em-ups waiting to be unpacked, at least three major audience participation shows and a 90-minute drama series, "Playhouse 90."

Add to this an evening entry for Tennessee Ernie Ford, one for Herb Shriner, a show for Walter Winchell and a double-domed CBS-TV Sunday afternoon called "The Seven Lively Arts."

Perhaps the night that will come in for the biggest revamping will be Friday, a fairly dreary affair last season.

CBS-TV, figuring the kids can stay up late Friday, hopes to catch them with "My Friend Flicka," "West Point Story" and "Zane Grey Theatre" all interlocked. In January, CBS-TV also will unveil "Mr. Adam and Eve," with Howard Duff and Ida Lupino. It'll step into "The Crusader" spot.

Some Week-end Changes
NBC has the Winchell show set for Friday along with a legal drama, "On Trial." Dinah Shore and Bob Hope will front a series of shows on occasional Fridays and Sundays.

ABC's Friday plans include "Jim Bowie" and "Treasure Hunt," a new quiz with Jan Murray as pilot.

Saturday is another big night for CBS-TV with the unwrapping of the new Jackie Gleason 60-minute show, Gale Storm's "Oh Susannah," and Jeannie Carson's "Hey Jeannie." NBC-TV plans to shift Sid Caesar's hour into the Saturday night niche, from Monday.

Sunday will see big changes on ABC-TV with "Omnibus" moving over from CBS-TV and Ted Mack's "Amateur Hour" switched to an earlier time. NBC-TV will unravel two early evening adventure shows—"Bengal Lancers" and "Circus Boy." And CBS-TV will alternate "See It Now" with "The Seven Lively Arts" during the shank of the afternoon.

Shriner on Tuesday
Monday will be a big night for NBC-TV. "The Most Beautiful Girl in the World" is scheduled to drop in as a combination beauty and talent contest. NBC-TV also will premier a new Buddy Hackett comedy series, "Stanley," and "Sir Lancelot."

The new Herb Shriner variety show will debut on Tuesday on CBS-TV. So will "Broken Arrow" on ABC-TV and "Noah's Ark," an NBC-TV 30-minuter about a veterinarian. NBC-TV's Wally Cox will move into a Wednesday slot with his new "Hiram Holliday" series and so will Jack Barry's "Twenty One." Wednesday also will see a CBS-TV quiz show, "Giant Step."

On Thursday, the new ones will be Tennessee Ernie Ford on NBC-TV and "Wire Service" and possibly, "Frontier Judge" on ABC-TV.

And while you're watching some of the new ones, give a thought to some of the old ones you won't be seeing next season—Jimmy Durante, Milton Berle, "Medic," Martha Raye, "Ethel and Albert" and "Frontier."

Abandons Ill Baby, Kidnap Hoax Result

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Police charged a young mother Wednesday night with abandoning her incurably ill infant son along a muddy country roadside and spinning a false kidnapping tale which sent police in five states searching for a "narcotics ring."

Mrs. Mary Frances Poole, 25-year old Navy wife, was charged with assault and abandoning five-month old Raymond Poole. The child was found by a girl on her way to a church meeting. The baby was lying face down on the muddy roadside but was unharmed.

Police said the baby was taken to a hospital where doctors told them he was suffering from cancer of the brain.

Mrs. Poole, who has two other children, touched off a frantic police search for her child and his fictitious kidnapers at 1 p. m. Wednesday when she telephoned authorities from her home in nearby Belmont. She said two men and a woman named Ruth Snider, of Oakland, Calif., took the baby from his crib because she refused to smuggle narcotics into the Charleston, S. C., Navy base for them.

Her husband is stationed at the base.

She said the Snider woman, who police now believe is non-existent, told her she would be "sorry" about refusing to smuggle the narcotics.

When the baby was found about 6 p. m. by Diane Ross, 13, police resumed questioning Mrs. Poole.

Finally, Mrs. Poole confessed that her whole story was a hoax. She had told police that Mrs. Snider had a police record in Des Moines, Iowa, but police there said they had no record of the woman.

She was held in lieu of $4,000 bond.

High School to Start Next Tuesday

new teacher employed just recently is Mrs. Ben Channess, who will teach girls' physical education. The school still needs one instructor to each general science and home economics, he pointed out.

Here are instructions outlined by Mr. Henson for the benefit of students and parents:

Students will meet Sept. 4 in general assembly in Davenport gym (the boys' gym) and will then be dismissed to attend home room meetings. There fees will be collected as follows:

All students will pay 25 cents for locker, 35 cents for library and 20 cents for dictionary. In addition, nearly all freshmen and sophomores will be required to pay a deposit of $1 for a lock which will be refunded at the end of the year.

Rented Textbooks

School accident insurance may be obtained if desired for $1.25. Students will also receive their class assignments in this first meeting of their homeroom. When all home room business has been completed, students will begin to attend their scheduled classes. Textbooks will be rented by the teachers to all students. Rental prices of books vary but will probably average $1.00 each. Classes which use workbooks will probably average an additional $1.25 for the workbook.

Freshman expenses will total approximately $7.50 for the first day of school, which will include all fees, insurance, and book rentals.

Cafeteria will serve lunch beginning with the first day of school at a price of 30 cents per meal without dessert, 35 cents with dessert.

All students are urged to bring enough money to cover the expense of fees and textbooks, and insurance (if they wish it), on the first day of school. Freshmen are to bring their medical and dental examination health cards, signed by the dentist and medical doctor, the first day of school and turn them in to their P. E. teacher.

Those students who did not complete the eighth grade in Saline County are required to bring their eighth grade diploma or report card or other evidence of having completed the eighth grade.

Students who have not yet registered should attend the general assembly meeting at 8:30, where they will receive further instructions.

Halt Thirty Convicts After Escape; Two Die in Vehicle Crash

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—All but two of some 50 convicts who fled Kilby State Prison in a dump truck were back in their cells today. The two were in the prison morgue.

The escape ended after a three-mile chase when guards, after repeatedly drawing alongside and ordering the fugitives to halt, shot out the vehicle's tires. The truck turned over, causing the two deaths.

Warden C. P. Buford said the other convicts, spilled down an embankment, gave no further resistance.

Group Seeks to Curb Rows on Better Missile

By POHN W. FINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has set up a top-level committee to resolve the seething inter-service controversy over whether the Army or Air Force has the better anti-aircraft guided missile, it was learned today.

The step was taken in response to congressional complaints over the fact that the two services are building up competing missile systems. The critics said the department should settle on one missile and clearly define the roles the Army and Air Force are to play in anti-aircraft defense.

The controversy is between the Army's Nike missile, now installed around most of the nation's principal cities, and the Talos missile, which the Air Force proposes to start installing around its major air bases.

Accuses Air Force

The Army has publicly accused the Air Force of trying to invade its anti-aircraft mission. The Defense Department, in response to inquiries by the United Press, disclosed today that a committee has been established to study "the relative merits from a technical standpoint" of the Nike and Talos systems.

The committee is headed by Eger V. Murphree, special assistant to the secretary of defense for guided missiles. It is composed of C. C. Furnas, assistant defense secretary for research and development; Frank D. Newbury, assistant defense secretary for application engineering; William H. Martin, Army director of research; and Richard E. Horner, acting assistant Air Force secretary for research.

Will Study All Data

The Defense Department said the group "will take into account all available data concerning the respective capabilities of the two systems." In drafting its conclusions, the department said, the committee will call upon such groups as the weapons system evaluation group—a Defense Department scientific group that studies the merits of new weapons.

The Defense Department statement indicated that the review will be limited to a scientific evaluation and not include an actual duel between the two missiles as demanded by the Senate Armed Services Committee to resolve the dispute.

The review, however, is partly in line with another Senate Armed Services Committee recommendation calling upon the Defense Department to set up a group of scientists to make a thorough evaluation of the relative merits of the two missiles.

Bankers Who Gave To Welfare Fund Are Breaking Law

CHICAGO (AP)—Bankers who contributed to the "welfare fund" in the Cook County treasurer's office may be charged with felony under a state law, U. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Ticken said today.

The Chicago Sun-Times reported the existence of the fund, and the criticism which followed prompted Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen to resign as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Ticken said he was "surprised" that the financiers did not know they were violating a 1915 law which forbids banks to pass on to the county treasurer or his agent money or other benefits resulting from the deposit of county funds.

The fund in county treasurer's office was maintained by contributions from such banks.

Ticken said the bankers are being questioned before a federal grand jury investigating possible violations of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Act. All are testifying freely, he said.

State's Atty. John Gutknecht said the bankers will be summoned to testify before a county grand jury.

Maximum penalty for violating the state law is a 1 to 10 year prison term.

Paschen Resignation Recalls Erickson Scandal of 1952

CHICAGO (AP)—The resignation of Herbert C. Paschen as the Democratic candidate for governor today recalled the Cook County phantom payroll scandal of 1952.

The scandal resulted in the withdrawal of William N. Erickson from the Republican primary for governor. Erickson then was president of the Cook County Board.

Erickson was indicted in the scandal on charges of malfeasance and conspiracy in office, but was cleared on a directed verdict of innocent.

The scandal brought to light names of persons—some fictitious—on county payrolls who drew salaries but did not work.

Saw Mill Fire Damage At Frankfort $50,000

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (AP)—Damage has been estimated at $50,000 in a West Frankfort saw mill fire today. Fire Chief Fred Harkins said the owner "didn't have a penny's worth of insurance."

Firemen from West Frankfort and Zeigler fought the blaze at Page's saw mill for four hours, but had it under control in 35 minutes.

Open Invitation

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Horace Cotton told police he couldn't understand how burglars entered his home while he was on vacation and stole a box containing $15,875 in cash and war bonds. Officers found the freshly painted windows of the house wide open. Cotton said he had left them that way to "dry."

Law Seeking to Pin Murder Charge on Dio

Evidence Lacking at Present but FBI Busy Examining Clues

By WARREN FRANKLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—FBI agents sought today to obtain enough evidence to bring labor racketeer Johnny Dio to trial for the gangland murder of columnist Victor Riesel's acid-throwing assailant.

U. S. Attorney Paul W. Williams described Dio, whose real name is John Dioguardi, as the mastermind of the plot that permanently blinded Riesel but admitted he lacked evidence to accuse him of murder.

Williams said, however, that the FBI was still in the case and trying to get enough information to connect Dio directly with the slaying of Abraham Telvi a small-time hoodlum who allegedly blinded Riesel from giving information of labor racketeering to a grand jury were arrested Tuesday night and held Wednesday in $475,000 bail.

Examine Every Clue

They were arraigned on charges that they attempted to obstruct justice by plotting an attack on a grand jury witness. But maximum penalty on conviction this charge would be only five years in prison and $10,000 fines. The FBI was reported examining every clue in an effort to bring Dio to trial for murder by directly causing the death of Telvi after the hired thug had demanded more money for carrying out the plot against Riesel.

If the FBI obtains enough information, it will be turned over to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan for his use in preparing a case because the murder of Telvi is not in the federal government's jurisdiction. DA Reported Angry

Hogan was reported to be angry because his office had received no information from the government in the Telvi slaying which occurred on the lower east side of Manhattan last July 28.

Williams said Telvi sealed his own fate after he learned that Dio had double-crossed him. He resented playing the role of fall guy, Williams said, and demanded adequate compensation.

According to information presented by Williams, Dio paid Telvi $1,000 to throw acid into the face of a radio disc jockey named "Marshall," who needed punishment for being unfaithful to his wife.

Telvi was reported to have carried out the assignment only to learn later that the man he blinded was Riesel.

He then asked for $50,000 and pressed for payment. Dio promised payment in full in two weeks. At the expiration of the deadline, Telvi received his "reward," a bullet in the back of his head.

Fear Violence In Clinton, Tenn. Segregation Row

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Police served a federal restraining order Wednesday night on a white supremacy leader in the middle of a speech to some 1,000 cheering segregationists. Authorities expressed fear that this tense testing ground of the Supreme Court's racial integration order may be the scene of violence.

The white supremacist, John Kasper, 26, Washington, D. C., ignored the order and continued speaking. The crowd howled shouts of "kill them" at the police officers who served an "anti-demonstration order on Kasper."

The incident was the latest growing out of the attempted integration of 12 Negro students into the Clinton High School.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter E. Fischer, School Principal J. D. Brittain Jr., and others immediately rushed to Knoxville again to petition Judge Taylor to order Kasper's arrest for contempt.

"I don't know what we're going to do unless we can get some outside help," Sheriff Joe K. Owen said. "What can you do with 500 people?"

Fire at Newcastle, Ind., Burns Down Elevator

NEWCASTLE, Ind. (AP)—A four-story grain elevator burned to the ground early today, causing an estimated $100,000 damage despite the efforts of firemen to bring it under control.

Authorities said the fire, of undetermined origin, broke out Wednesday night. They said it raged for over three hours.

Jail Officials Veto Potatoless Irish Stew

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Prisoners in the Allegheny County jail almost had to endure Irish stew made with rice. Potatoes cost too much.

The lowest bid to supply the prison with potatoes was $5.45 per 100 pounds, compared with $1.90 last December.

County officials briefly considered switching to rice, then thought how stew made with rice would taste, and placed an order for $981 worth of potatoes.

GOP Launches Drive to Call Opposition 'Democrat' Party

The "ic" on End of Word Left Out of Speeches at Republican Convention

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican Party has launched as "official policy" a campaign to change the name of the Democratic Party, a spokesman disclosed yesterday.

L. Richard Guylay, director of public relations at the Republican National Committee, told the United Press it "will be a matter of policy" for Republicans to refer to the opposition as the "Democrat Party."

The GOP convention in San Francisco last week was the first full-scale try-out of the new policy. It omitted the word "Democratic" from all party utterances.

Guylay said the GOP feels that "Democratic" as an adjective is not descriptive of the party as it exists today.

Edited GOP Speeches

He said Republicans feel that the party of the Democrats should be "more properly" called the "Democrat Party" because of the "diverse" viewpoints within it.

Guylay was one of those responsible for editing Republican speeches at San Francisco to see that no "ic" got through the teleprompter.

In press copies of Thomas E. Dewey's speech there were two blank spaces after each "Democrat" where industrious staffers had smudged out the "ic."

Guylay claims the origin of the shortened name is "obscure." But simmering Democrats recall most vividly that it was used repeatedly by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) during the Army-McCarthy feud hearings. Other Republicans adopted it and now the committee has made it official.

Hears Outrageous Mutters

With most Democratic big-wigs out of town or campaigning with Adlai E. Stevenson, the only Democratic National Committee comment immediately available was outraged mutters from secretaries and the like.

Most of these embraced wholeheartedly suggestions in "letters to the editor" columns here calling for a countermove to shorten the GOP name to "Publican Party" or "Republican Party."

In the Bible the word publicans is usually followed by "and sinners."

Guylay noted such suggestions but said:

"It doesn't seem to click like ours."

Well aware that the stratagem is working like a poison ivy attack on the Democrats, Guylay said with a chuckle, "what's happened to the 'ic' that is the question."

Make Changes on SIU Campus as Enrollment Ups

CARONDALE, Ill. — With expanding enrollment continuing to create space shortages at Southern Illinois University, a former residence next door to the University-operated departments on University Avenue here is being renovated for use by the SIU sociology department.

Dr. George Hand, vice president in charge of business affairs, said the building should be ready for use by the opening of the fall term next month.

The sociology offices now located in the gymnasium will be used by the health education department.

In another move, the University Store will go into a barracks annex of the Wheeler Library building and Parkinson Laboratory building space formerly occupied by the University Store will be taken over by the chemistry department.

The chemistry department also will use rooms formerly assigned to the Air Force ROTC and badly needed now for laboratory space on both floors of Parkinson. The AFROTC detachment is moving into Wheeler Library, along with the foreign language department.

A quonset hut formerly used for book storage by the library will be taken over by the department of physical education, recreation and outdoor education.

State Sets Standards For Auto Seat Belts

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The State Commission on Equipment has fixed minimum standards for motor vehicle seat belts and served notice that dealers who sell non-regulation belts can be charged with a misdemeanor.

Belts must be at least 1½ inches in width and have a tensile strength per occupant of 1,500 pounds.

The design of the buckle must incorporate a quick-opening mechanism and the belt must be installed rigidly enough to withstand a sudden thrust.

Sen. Ellender Visits Russia 3 Weeks, 'Amazed'

By JOHN HLAVACK
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Sen. Allen Ellender (D-La.) said today he was "amazed" at what he saw during his recent three-week tour of the Soviet Union.

The Louisiana senator arrived in India last week to begin his one-man investigation of the U. S. Information Service and International Cooperation Administration programs here, in Ceylon and other countries of Southeast Asia.

Ellender, who also visited Russia last year, said the Russian people were working hard and reminded him of America's "pioneer workers."

The senator spent most of his time touring and seeing things he missed last year.

Behind Us In Agriculture
The Soviet Union's agricultural workers and equipment impressed him, but he said the Russians are "20 years behind us" in agricultural gear.

He said that although Russia this year has a magnificent crop, it will lose 25 to 30 per cent of it in inefficient handling.

Describing his trip, Ellender said he travelled by road from Moscow to Yalta and visited the manufacturing center of Kharkov, Sees New City

"I visited manufacturing plants, automobile plants and tractor factories," he said. "I also visited the new city of Stalingrad, which is being built a few miles from the old city. They are going ahead with building a really fine city."

The senator said he saw water turbines for dams being built, some as large as 56 feet in diameter. He said the largest in the United States ran only 38 to 42 feet.

"At Kharkov I saw some of the largest lathes I have ever seen," he said.

Ellender added that his overall impression was one of people "working, working, working."

"I saw women carpenters and women bricklayers," he said. "It appeared that the Russians are working and getting harder. We seem to be getting softer in the United States."

MURDER

Shayne got up and began to pace the floor.

"I told you that he said her name was Nellie Paulson. The man with the scar. She didn't give any name to me. I hadn't got around to that when he came busting in and she locked herself in the kitchen. Naturally, I believed him," groaned Shayne. "His story about chasing her down the back stairs of the Hibiscus coincided with her story, so I accepted the name he gave her."

"But we know from the Jacksonville description of Paulson that he was lying about being Nellie Paulson's brother," barked Gentry.

"He isn't Barnes," said Shayne flatly. "At least he isn't the man registered at the Roney as Barnes." He dropped into a chair and stretched his long legs out wearily.

"If the dead man is Barnes—and I'm beginning to think he is—then it looks as though the girl who talked to me must be his sister Mary. Don't you see how it hangs together?"

She said her brother had called her from the Hibiscus tonight to come and get him out of a jam. What kind of jam does it look as though he might have been in?

"The old badger game, of course. With Miss Nellie Paulson of room 316 in the Hibiscus. But something happens before Mary gets there to help him out. A knife in his throat, no less. And Mary walks in before they have time to get rid of the body. She takes one look at her brother, and runs to use the phone in 360. By the time she gets back, his body has gone out the window. Then scarf-face jumps her and she runs to me. And then runs away from me when he follows her there."

"To Lucy's apartment," said Gentry sharply. "With a note from you."

Shayne stared at him queerly and reached for the phone.

He gave Lucy's number and waited. Again, the telephone rang several times before Lucy answered. And again her voice sounded strained when she said, "Yes?"

"Mike, angel. Did the girl who brought the note from me tell what her name was?"

"Why—you told me, Michael. When you called me on the phone before she got here. You said Nellie Paulson would be along—"

"I know I did," he interrupted harshly. "But now I'm asking you if she corroborated that."

"I'm trying to think. N-No. Not directly, I think. I just assumed from what you said that—"

"I know," said Shayne wearily. "Bye." He hung up and told Gentry, "She didn't say anything to Lucy that proves it either way. I've had a feeling about her—that she didn't fit into the badger game technique—"

"Then why did the scar-faced man positively identify her as Nellie Paulson?"

"Don't forget that we now know he isn't Paulson," Shayne objected. "He doesn't fit the Jax police description. So maybe he didn't even know Nellie by sight. Maybe that's why he thought the girl who ran out of 316 was Nellie. If he knew Nellie had that room—went up there looking for her and saw a blonde girl running out, he'd assume she was Nellie. Now we're beginning to get somewhere."

"Where?" demanded Gentry. "I don't know for sure." Shayne's grin was wryly abashed. "But the girl's story all falls into place if you accept her as Mary Barnes instead of Paulson. I had a feeling from the beginning she was telling me the truth and wasn't half crazy as Nellie Paulson is supposed to be."

"So now everything's just perfect—since you decided your judgment of her wasn't at fault."

"Everything's perfectly wrong," snapped Shayne. "I wasn't half as worried when I thought scarf-face was hunting Nellie Paulson with a gun. Girls who pull stunts like her badger game deserve whatever they get. But if it's Mary Barnes he's after? Why don't your men pick him up. Will? While you're blaming the Force, Mike, don't forget it was you who failed to make sure she'd stay put at Lucy's when you had the chance."

11:34 P. M.

Patrolman Cassidy's beat was Miami's Bayfront Park. He walked the winding, palm-shaded paths in steady strides, chin up and eyes alert for any sort of mischief a policeman should put a stop to.

He was passing the bench without noticing the figure huddled on it when the toe of his shoe struck something in the path. There was a tinkling sound in the gravel off to the side where his foot had kicked the object, and he stopped and thumbed his flash on to turn a circle of light downward.

The beam first picked out a gold lipstick and then a small hand mirror. Beyond them lay a lady's handbag, gaping open. He swung the light back swiftly and something gleamed wetly on the edge of the path beneath the bench.

The beam came up and he saw the girl lying there. The pallid face and sightless eyes, the gaping wound in her soft throat from which the red wetness beneath the bench had come.

He stood stricken and unable to move for at least 20 seconds. Then he plunged headlong toward the call-box under the street light.

Tipsy Elevator Operator

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An elevator operator was charged today with drunken driving of his elevator. Police Sgt. Edward C. Teacoul said he experienced a harrowing ride up and down the six floors of a downtown office building.

Safe on the ground floor once more, Teacoul arrested the operator, Jack Greeson, 52-year-old Negro.

New Ties Boast Built-In Taste

NEW YORK (AP)—If the man of the house never seems to wear the right tie with a suit, you can solve the problem by getting him ties with "built-in" taste. One manufacturer makes dacron ties with color guide tabs sewn inside to indicate which suit colors go well with them. The ties can be machine-laundered and need no pressing. (Wembley, Inc., New York).

In Memoriam
In memory of Jimmie Blaine Reeder, who departed this life two years ago, August 30:
Our Jimmy was born in the year 37.
He had an appointment with Christ in Heaven.
He kept that appointment in the year 54.
Now he dwells with his Saviour forevermore.
We too have an appointment to keep sometime.
With God the creator and Christ divine.
Then we'll be with our Saviour and live up above,
With Jimmie forever in God's Kingdom of love.
Sadly missed by father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Reeder, and brother, Charles. *54-1

Golf Meet Here All Set to Start

First Round of Play to Be Ended Sept. 8

Championships are Scheduled for Oct. 7; Pairings Revealed

The annual tournament of the Egyptian Golf Association will get underway this week-end with four men's flights and two women's flights scheduled at the local country club.

All first round play is scheduled to be completed by Sept. 8, second round by Sept. 15, third round by Sept. 22, and fourth round by Sept. 29. Championship matches will be held Oct. 7, with Oct. 14 the alternate date in case of rain.

The tournament committee wishes to explain that some names have been left out of the drawings because of uneven numbers in the flights. Some forfeitures are expected, and anyone included in the drawings who cannot play should contact Jake Humphrey. Also, anyone who has been left out of the drawings and wishes to play, should contact Humphrey.

A one dollar entry fee will be charged to defray the costs of the awards, which will be given at the conclusion of the tournament championship. The winners will be determined by match play rules.

The tournament committee wishes to urge that all first round play be completed without delay, because of the great number of matches scheduled. Each individual is also urged to contact his opponent personally to schedule the matches.

Ike the Golfer

IN THE Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — President Eisenhower always has been secretive about his D-days—whether debarkation or divots—but the first details available today make it a matter of record that Ike is a better than average occasional golfer.

Last week the President played his first full round since his operation last June. Considering the long layoff, Ike's play was amazingly effective as he carded a steady 90.

And that practice behind the White House paid off as he chipped with laudable precision for a total of five one-putt greens.

This marked the first time, his 18-hole tour of the tough Cypress Point course at Pebble Beach, Calif., in which observers were permitted to follow him with card and pencil. The conclusions were that, while Ike may never win the National Amateur, he'd be a tough cookie in a weekend five buck Nassau.

Drives Erratic

Running over the recorded details, you can draw a pretty fair analysis of his game. His drives are erratic, measuring 200 to 215 yards when he connects, but like you and me he is bothered by a slice.

Just as any other weekend golfer, he is troubled by his long fairway woods and long irons. His short irons are good, he's a terror when chipping but his sand shots are unsteady. His putting touch was rusty, as attested by two three-putt greens, but those five one-putters helped.

The details of his round, as recorded by Sports Illustrated Magazine, herewith explains his "90 or 91" as he picked up on one hole in which he figured he "could have had a six or seven."

On the 418-yard first hole he three-putted for a double bogey six. He bogeyed the par five, 532-yard second when he missed the green. On the third, 156 yards, Ike sparked a four iron four feet from the pin but missed his birdie putt.

Traps Approach

Trapping his approach on the fourth and needing two to get out, he double-bogeyed the 375-yard par four hole but then played the 468-yard fifth in a regulation five.

On the 503-yard sixth he flubbed his pitch shot for a bogey six and took a bogey four on the 155-yard seventh. On the eighth he picked up after three whacks in a monster trap. But he wallowed a 215-yard drive on the 295-yard ninth and wedged 15 feet from the pin for a par four.

He had five straight bogeys starting home, smothering a three iron second on the 10th, slicing a four-wood second on the 11th, missing two iron shots on the 12th, pushing a three iron into the rough on the 13th and leaving his three wood second shot short on the 14th hole.

He parred the 125-yard 15th; and played the famed 222-yard 16th the safe way for a four. He lost his second shot in the trees on the 17th and on the 334-yard 18th hit his four iron second 20 feet from the cup — and three putted.

So from now on, when he says he was in the low 80's, don't bet he wasn't. This even convinces the Democrats.

Aching Spider Webb Holds Decision Over Favored Rory Calhoun

CHICAGO — Spider Webb had the glory, but he also had the aches and pains today after his 10-round decision over middle weight Rory Calhoun for the latter's first professional defeat after 23 straight wins.

"Every punch he threw hurt," Webb moaned as he clutched his sides in the dressing room. And as to whether anybody else ever hit him that bad, "he hits much badder," the victor or victim said. Calhoun, though beaten, was sounder physically. His only mark was a swollen left eye, which came up in the late rounds after Webb scored frequently with grazing left jabs and occasionally with right hooks.

Webb by winning gained a match, probably in the stadium Oct. 31, against the winner of the Bobby Boyd-Joe Giardello fight slated for Cleveland next month.

Rizzuto to Broadcast

NEW YORK — Phil Rizzuto, New York Yankee shortstop, released last Saturday, will take over for the ailing Frankie Frisch this weekend on two local television shows, following New York Giant home games. Rizzuto will interview Roy Campanella Friday night and PeeWee Reese Sunday.

SPORTS

Mickey Hits 46th

Homer But Loses

Ground for Record

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle, beginning to "feel the pinch" of Babe Ruth's sensational September spurt in 1927, needs three home runs in the Yankees next six games to stay even with the Bambino's record pace.

Mantle hit his 46th homer in the Yankees' 128th game Wednesday but actually lost ground to Ruth. Mickey started Wednesday's game five games ahead of the Babe and came out of it only four games ahead. This is because Ruth hit two homers in the Yankees' 132nd game in 1927.

Eldorado Coach Greeted by 7 Letter Gridders

Only seven lettermen are included in the approximately 50 Eldorado high school football candidates engaging in twice-a-day workouts, Coach Al Adams stated this morning.

Returning ETHS lettermen are Co-captains Web Mosby, a guard and linebacker, and Marty Feunquay, quarterback; Richard Overton, tackle; Donald Kingery, end; Allen Corbin, guard; Don Gwaltney, halfback; and Jack Mitchell, guard and linebacker.

The squad is not only lacking in experience, but also in weight.

"If I had to pick a starting lineup right now it wouldn't average more than 150 pounds," Adams declared. The two heaviest men are Overton and Mitchell, 165 and 162 pounds respectively, according to reports.

Fifteen seniors were included in last year's letter winning group, including All-Stater Lindell Lovellette. "We lost our entire starting offensive unit," Adams said in discussing this year's prospects.

However, Adams wasn't too pessimistic saying, "We will be small, but scrappy. The boys have a fine attitude and are working hard."

The group includes seniors, juniors, sophomores and three freshmen who received special invitations to report early. Regular call for freshman candidates will not be issued until the opening day of school, Tuesday, Sept. 4.

At present practice sessions are being held on the Raleigh baseball diamond at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m. The Eldorado gridiron has been ditched for the installation of a sprinkling system and work of leveling the field is still in progress.

The Eldorado coaching staff consists of Adams, "Chuck" Leonard and Jim Redden. The latter is new at Eldorado, having coached at Cairo last year.

Eldorado opens its nine-game season at Anna Sept. 14.

Adcock's Three-Run Homer In Ninth Gives Braves 4-1 Victory over Pirates

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Joe Adcock has dealt the Brooklyn Dodgers many a crippling blow in person but few hurt so much as one he struck from 90 miles away.

The blow, a three-run, ninth-inning home run, came Wednesday night to give the Milwaukee Braves a 4-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates while the Dodgers "sweated out" the results 90 miles down the tracks in Chicago. The world champions had walloped the Cubs, 11-4, in an afternoon game.

It was as important a blow as has been struck for the Braves all season because it was the difference today between a 1½ game first-place lead and a slender half game margin over Brooklyn. Even the Dodgers would admit that none of the 11 homers he hit against them this season provided a greater setback to their pennant plans.

Adcock's 34th round-tripper of the campaign came after Hank Aaron singled and Ed Mathews drew a walk off Erloy Face. Mathews put the Braves ahead with his 33rd homer in the second inning but the Pirates tied the score in the ninth when Dick Groat singled home Dale Long. The game was held up by rain for 53 minutes at the start of the ninth.

Campanella Big Gun

Lew Burdette shut out the Pirates on four hits until the ninth and wound up with a seven-hitter to win his 17th game of the year.

Roy Campanella drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a double to spark an 11-hit Dodger attack on four Cub pitchers. Carl Erskine yielded 11 hits but went the distance for his 12th win. Duke Snider contributed his 37th homer for Brooklyn.

Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan, Cincinnati's "mighty mite" double play combination, took over for their more muscular teammates to drive in two runs each in the Redlegs' 4-3 triumph over the New York Giants.

Robin Roberts was combed for 12 hits including a homer by Ray Katt but hung on for his 15th win as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-6. Del Ennis smacked his 23rd homer, a double and a single for the Philies.

Yanks Eight in Front

The New York Yankees remained eight games ahead in the American League when they rallied for three runs in the ninth to beat the Kansas City Athletics, 7-6. Mickey Mantle, who hit his 46th homer in the third inning and now is four games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace, climaxed the winning rally with a 400-foot single to score the decisive run.

Vic Wertz singled home the tying run in the sixth and knocked in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth to give the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles.

Tom Brewer won his 17th game when the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, as Dick Cernert came through with a run-scoring double and a two-run single.

Jim Wilson won his first game since July 3 when the Chicago White Sox beat the Washington Senators, 9-7, and mathematically eliminated them from the race. Nelson Fox had four hits and Minnie Minoza and Walt Droppa three each for the White Sox.

Illinois Highways Will Be Patrolled by Record 1,380 over Labor Day Week-End

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Governor William G. Stratton's plan to use the Illinois National Guard to assist the state police this week-end will bring the total number of official patrolmen on Illinois highways to 1,380, an all-time high.

In addition to 600 state policemen and 220 national guardsmen, Governor Stratton enlisted the assistance of 500 volunteer auxiliary state police and 60 inspectors from private trucking industries to patrol the state's highway system during the three-day Labor Day week-end.

The previous record number of patrolmen was set at the beginning of this year when there were 500 state policemen, 230 national guardsmen and 200 state police auxiliary officers on duty for the New Year week-end.

Before leaving for the Republican National Convention and his vacation, Governor Stratton said, "Through the combined efforts of the national guard, the highway police and local authorities, Illinois had one of the lowest accident records in the nation during the last three-day holiday week-end. I am hopeful that we can duplicate that fine record during the Labor Day week-end."

At the governor's direction Major General Leo M. Boyle, the Adjutant General, ordered 20 officers and 200 enlisted men to assist the state police during the period beginning at 8 a. m. Sept. 1, and ending at midnight Sept. 3.

lanes for travel during the holiday period.

He advised contractors to plan their work so that there will be no open holes in the pavement, to eliminate trenches in pavement widening areas, and to remove barricades from travel lanes before work ends Friday.

City and county enforcement agencies also are expected to present a united front in the effort to reduce accidents. The Division of Traffic Safety reported that the majority of these agencies have established plans for special enforcement activities during the holiday week-end.

Corncocks now are being used for furtural, a chemical needed to make nylon, synthetic rubber, pharmaceuticals, and resins.
